They shall govern the conduct of all marine investigations under the DMA flag. They implement and enforce the Act, the Regulations and relevant International Conventions and Agreements to which DMA is a party or which it has implemented.

1.2 Purpose

The objectives of DMA marine investigations are to promote safety of life and property at sea and to prevent the pollution of the seas by preventing Marine Casualties, Marine Incidents, Offenses or Occurrences in the future.

A marine investigation shall not refrain from fully reporting on causal factors, including possible violations of law and possible faults or failures on the part of vessels and/or personnel. The outcome of an investigation may necessitate Administrative Proceedings or Adjudicatory Proceedings by the Commonwealth of Dominica Maritime Administration that could result in punitive actions, such as the suspension or revocation of a seafarer’s license or certificate and/or the assessment of a monetary penalty against an individual or company, in accordance with all governing laws and regulations.

1.3 Duty to Conduct

The Administration, upon learning of a Marine Casualty, Marine Incident, Offense or Occurrence, shall conduct an investigation, as may be necessary, to determine as closely as possible the cause(s) or any contributing cause(s) of the Marine Casualty or Marine Incident and the circumstances of the Offense or Occurrence, and whether there has been any act of misconduct, inattention to duty or negligence upon the part of any certificated person or violation of law or regulation so that appropriate action may be taken.

Investigations of Marine Casualties or Marine Incidents shall be conducted in accordance with Part I of these Rules. Investigations of Offenses and Occurrences shall be conducted in accordance with Part II of these Rules.

 - b. other Marine Casualties and Marine Incidents of a ship documented in the Commonwealth of Dominica if, based on a preliminary investigation (see section 4.3, below), it is considered likely that the investigation will provide information that can be used to prevent similar Marine Casualties and Marine Incidents in the future.
- 4.1.3 A Marine Safety Investigation shall, to the extent possible, identify immediate and basic or root causal factors, as well as failures that may be present in the error chain of events, taking into consideration the total conduct of the operation from policy through implementation.

4.1.4 A Marine Safety Investigation shall commence as soon as reasonably practicable so as not to compromise or jeopardize evidence or delay a ship unnecessarily.

4.1.5 Any person or persons that interfere with the conduct of a Marine Safety Investigation may be subject to fines and penalties under the Commonwealth of Dominica law.

4.2 Cooperation between States

4.2.1 Cooperation

- a. The Administration shall cooperate with the Marine Safety Investigating State(s) to the extent practicable; and, if assuming the role of the Marine Safety Investigating State, shall provide for the participation of a Substantially Interested State(s) in the investigation of a Marine Casualty or Marine Incident to the extent practicable and allowable under the Commonwealth of Dominica's laws and regulations.
- b. An Investigating Officer of a Substantially Interested State carrying out a Marine Safety Investigation shall be entitled to board a ship, interview the Master and crew and any other persons involved in the Marine Casualty or Marine Incident and acquire evidential material, except that original documents, equipment and VDR information shall be handled in accordance with section 5.2.1, below.
- c. Nothing shall limit the rights of States to conduct their own separate Marine Safety Investigations under the Casualty Investigation Code and other International Conventions and Agreements, including the Commonwealth of Dominica Maritime Administration.

4.2.2 Notification

- a. The Administration shall notify any Substantially Interested State(s) as soon as reasonably practicable when a Marine Casualty involving a ship documented in the Dominica Maritime Administration occurs:
 - i. On the High Seas or in an EEZ; or
 - ii. Within the territory, including the Territorial Sea, of a State.
- b. Notification shall not be delayed due to the lack of complete information.
- c. Notification shall contain as much of the following information as is readily available.
 - i. The name of the ship and its Flag State;
 - ii. The IMO ship identification number;
 - iii. The nature of the Marine Casualty;
 - iv. The location of the Marine Casualty;
 - v. Time and date of the Marine Casualty;
 - vi. The number of any seriously injured or deceased persons;
 - vii. Consequences of the Marine Casualty to individuals, property, and the environment; and
 - viii. The identification of any other ship involved.

4.2.3 Marine Safety Investigating State

The Commonwealth of Dominica shall consult with any Substantially Interested State(s) in an effort to seek agreement on which State(s) will be the Marine Safety Investigating State(s), in accordance with a requirement or a recommendation to investigate under the Casualty Investigation Code.

Once an agreement to cooperate in a Marine Safety Investigation is reached in principle by the Substantially Interested State(s), the agreement should be rendered in writing, prior to the commencement of an investigation, through a Letter of Agreement or similar document. Substantially Interested States may, by written mutual agreement, join an investigation either immediately or at a later stage.

If an agreement cannot be reached, then the existing obligations and rights of the Commonwealth of Dominica or any Substantially Interested State to conduct its own Marine Safety Investigation shall remain with the respective States.

4.2.4 Parallel Investigations

When separate Marine Safety Investigations are undertaken they should run in parallel. The Administrator shall seek, where possible, to coordinate the timing of its investigations with those of either the Marine Safety Investigating State or other Substantially Interested State(s) to avoid conflicting demands upon witnesses and to provide for reasonable access to evidence.

4.3 Investigation Process

Upon learning of a Marine Casualty or a Marine Incident, a preliminary investigation shall be conducted by the Administration or its duly designated representative(s) so that the Marine Casualty or Marine Incident may be evaluated and categorized to provide for subsequent, appropriate action to be taken by the Administration in accordance with the Act and/or the Regulations and CDP-501, the Flag State Inspection Program.

The guidance and methodologies set forth in IMO Resolution A.884(21), as amended, or other investigation methodologies or processes as determined appropriate by the Administration, shall be applied, as appropriate, to the investigation of Marine Casualties and Marine Incidents.

5.0 POWERS AND DUTIES

5.1 Administration

5.1.1 General

The Administration shall provide the IMO with detailed contact information regarding a Marine Safety Investigation of a Marine Casualty or a Marine Incident involving a Commonwealth of Dominica vessel or a vessel within the territory, including the Territorial Seas, of the Commonwealth of Dominica.

5.1.2 Investigations Oversight Committee (IOC)

The IOC shall oversee the structure and operation of investigations and shall provide guidance on the proper functioning thereof to the flag State, owning company, or operating company of the vessel of interest or its duly designated representative(s).

5.1.3 Organization and Staffing

The Deputy Maritime Administrator or Assistant Deputy Maritime Administrator with expertise in and oversight of investigations, and associated staff, shall at all times retain the full powers and duties of an Investigating Officer and shall be responsible for supervising and/or conducting all Commonwealth of Dominica Marine Safety Investigations.

The Deputy Maritime Administrator or a representative who is authorized to act for and on behalf of the Administration by the Deputy Maritime Administrator located in the Central Office may appoint an Investigating Officer for the purpose of conducting a Marine Safety Investigation and confer upon the investigator such authority as deemed necessary to effectuate the investigation.

To assist the Investigating Officer, the Deputy Maritime Administrator located in the Central Office, the Assistant Deputy Maritime Administrator with expertise in and oversight of investigations, may appoint trained and experienced individuals, organizations or agencies with the appropriate expertise for technical advice or other assistance as necessary and authorized by the Deputy Maritime Administrator.

5.2 Investigating Officers

The Investigating Officer carrying out a Commonwealth of Dominica Marine Safety Investigation shall be impartial and objective. The Investigating Officer shall report on the results of a Marine Safety Investigation without direction or interference from any persons or organizations that may be affected by its outcome.

An Investigating Officer shall ensure the complete development of all pertinent facts, establish to the best of his or her ability the cause(s) of any casualty or incident and make such findings, conclusions and recommendations in his or her report as will in his or her best judgment aid in preventing a recurrence of a similar Marine Casualty or Marine Incident. The Investigating Officer may, at any stage of the Marine Safety Investigation, recommend interim safety measures.

5.2.1 Handling of Original Documents and Equipment

A Commonwealth of Dominica Investigating Officer or an investigator from a Marine Safety Investigating State shall not be permitted to take original documents or equipment off a vessel documented in the Commonwealth of Dominica, unless under exceptional circumstances. Such an exceptional circumstance would be, for example, when a Marine Safety Investigation Authority articulates a legal basis and reason(s) why it is necessary to remove original documents or equipment off a vessel and the Administration agrees. When original record(s)/document(s) are removed they must be replaced by certified copies. If equipment or other evidence is removed, full access should be provided to the Commonwealth of Dominica Investigating Officer. A receipt stating the reason(s) for the removal of original document(s) or equipment must be provided to the ship's Master by the Marine Safety Investigation Authority that took such action. In no case shall the absence of original record(s)/document(s) or equipment on board the ship in such exceptional circumstances be recorded as a deficiency against the ship. Flag State authorization is required prior to a vessel departing a port without required equipment on board.

5.2.2. Conducting Interviews

When a Marine Safety Investigation requires a seafarer or other person to provide evidence, the evidence shall be taken at the earliest practical opportunity.

Any Investigating Officer conducting an interview of a seafarer or other person involved in the matter under investigation shall clearly state the purpose of the investigation and of the interview and the possible future use to be made of the information obtained during the interview. Each Investigating Officer shall state the following in advance of any interview:

I am an Investigating Officer and representative of the Commonwealth of Dominica, the Flag State of this vessel. It is the responsibility of the Flag State to investigate these matters and your cooperation is encouraged in order to help improve safety at sea. You do have the right to legal advice regarding your risks, rights and protections. At the end of the Flag State investigation, any information gathered during the course of the investigation may be disclosed to the owner, operator, any Substantially Interested State and/or to the IMO, amongst others, only at the sole discretion of the Commonwealth of Dominica.

6.0 CONFIDENTIALITY OF INFORMATION AND DISCLOSURE OF RECORDS

Investigating Officers shall secure all Marine Safety Records and all other evidence collected during the investigation in a manner which prevents access by persons who do not require it for the purposes of the investigation.

Material in a Marine Safety Record shall only be disclosed where it is determined by the Administration that it is necessary or desirable to do so to address immediate safety risks to a vessel, its crew and/or other persons, property or the environment. In determining whether to disclose such information the Administration shall take into account any impact on the future availability of information to a Marine Safety Investigation and what is otherwise permitted by Commonwealth of Dominica law and regulations, as well as Chapter 23 of the Casualty Investigation Code.

Material in a Marine Safety Record shall be included in the final report or its appendices only when pertinent to the analysis of the Marine Casualty or Marine Incident. Material in a Marine Safety Record not included in the final report shall not be disclosed.

When conducting a Marine Safety Investigation, the Administration shall supply information from a Marine Safety Record to a Substantially Interested State only when doing so will not undermine the integrity and credibility of the investigation being conducted. The Administration, if supplying information from the Marine Safety Record of an investigation to another State, may require reassurance that it be kept confidential in accordance with Commonwealth of Dominica laws and regulations, as well as Chapter 23 of the Casualty Investigation Code.

7.0 CRIMINAL CONDUCT

7.1 Evidence of Criminal Conduct

At any time during the course of a Marine Safety Investigation under Part I of these Rules, where it appears to the satisfaction of the Investigating Officer(s) or to the majority of the IOC members, that evidence of criminal conduct under the Act exists, the Deputy Maritime Administrator with expertise in and oversight of investigations or designee, the Presiding Officer of the IOC shall immediately notify the Deputy Maritime Administrator located in the Central Office who shall coordinate with the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Dominica as necessary in accordance with Commonwealth of Dominica law.
